

Maelynn's Favorite Things To Do

Creativity is a lot of fun!

Reading

Fiction

Fantasy, Folklore, Mythology

I don't read as much as I used to now, but I'm a big fan of fiction, particularly fantasy. I also enjoy a good sci-fi story. My fiancée has been trying to get me to read a sci-fi novel called Death Worlders. I'm also a big fan of folklore and fairytales à la Brothers' Grimm or Hans Christian Andersen, and mythology.

Writing

Prose

I love to write. Lately, I've dabbled more in fanfiction than anything, but I do have an original project I've been working on with a friend. It's a passion project we've been working on for a couple of years now. If you're familiar with Dungeons & Dragons, it's very similar in its style. We also drew some inspirations from things like Lord of the Rings, mythology and folklore, and other such mythical and magical realms in our worldbuilding.

Art

- Digital
- Traditional

- Map Making
- 2D Animation

I draw mostly digital art now, though I got my start with just a plain old pencil and paper. I also dabbled a little bit in 2D animation, though my skills with that are far from refined. I'd love to try picking it up again some day. I mostly make maps for my D&D campaign on the map making site Inkarnate.

I'm taking this class in part to help out my sister, as well as learn some coding. I have some experience with HTML and C++ but not Python. I've always found coding to be really interesting, but never really knew where to start with learning it.
